Trustees Change Election Time— Discuss Many Village Problems

To hold public hearing on daylight saving April 1—Prepares tentative budget of $12,980 for coming year—Hope to lower river to prevent floods—Taxpayers on assessment roll only ones eligible to vote on new fire truck.

Election time was advanced here from one to six o'clock on Tuesday, March 19 to give out-of-the-village workers an opportunity to return. This action was taken at a meeting of the Village Board held Monday night in the village hall, amid a night in the court room, village hall.

Daylight Saving
The Board also voted to hold a public hearing Monday, April 1 at 7:30 o'clock on the question of daylight saving. This action was taken to give persons interested in the proposition an opportunity to be heard. By holding a hearing and then enacting the proper ordinance, the village will save the expense of a special vote on the measure. Based on the opinions expressed at the meeting the Board members will either pass the local law for daylight saving or abandon the idea. If enacted daylight saving will be effective here April 28.

Voting On Fire Truck
Considerable time of the Board members Monday was devoted to a discussion of eligibility of voters on the proposition of a new fire truck for the village. Attorney Charles Salerno, village legal advisor, states that only those persons whose names appear on the last assessment roll are eligible to vote. Where property is held jointly, a man and wife or two persons may vote, but where the assessment roll gives only one taxpayer, only that one may vote. Persons owning property and not living in the election district are not eligible to vote, however. These and other technicalities on the voting will be ironed out before the election March 19.

Lowering River
On motion of Trustee Russell Allen the village will seek to have the mill race at the Canisteo River dam opened this week to lower the water in the river and break up the ice. By breaking it up now and letting it out, the danger of flooding from ice jams and melting ice will be lessened. This also brought up the matter of dynamiting ice above the dam and at the cottages west of the village where ice jams form. No action was taken although it was the consensus of opinion that $75 spent for dynamite now may save hundreds of dollars later.

Pumper Problems
A discussion of a new fire truck led to a discussion of repairs to the old pumper which was damaged through pumping cellars during flood times. Members felt that $100 spent on the old pumper would put it in condition to take care of fires in the village and for fires outside the village, the members did not feel that the village should go to great expense to provide a pumper. It was suggested that the village purchase a gasoline motorized centrifugal pump for pumping out cellars at flood times. No action was taken.

CHIMNEY FIRE
An overheated chimney called out both fire companies here Sunday morning to the home of Truman Rice, Steuben street. The fire started at 9:15. The blaze was quickly extinguished and slight damage was done to the building.

Finnerty Asked To Speak at Cornell Meet

Frank B. Finnerty, teacher of Agriculture in the Addison High School has been asked by the Rural Education Department of Cornell University to discuss the subject of the organization and conducting of out-of-school group meetings for boys on farms. The discussion is to be given before the members of the 1940 graduating class in the field of vocational agriculture teaching at Ithaca. Mr. Finnerty is to appear at Ithaca some time during the month of April.

The local Department of Agriculture has conducted meetings for the out-of-school group of young farmers for the past six years. It is considered by the State Education Department to have made considerable progress in the establishment and organization of this group of farmers.

The club idea was used by the local department about four years ago and since that time has been widely copied throughout the state.

A few years ago a group of Cornell students visited one of the regular meetings of the club and since that time the set-up of the local organization has been widely used in this state.

While pursuing special study there for a master's degree he will be a member of the university faculty teaching classes in Latin.

Mr. Gossner has been principal of the Woodhull school for three years and taught Latin and history there for two years before assuming the principalship.

Leap Year Birthday For Esther Whitmore

Several young classmates of Addison High School were her guests.

Five-cent Milk In N. Y. Interests Local Producers

Addison and vicinity milk producers are much concerned over the fact that the Federal Government is to try to peddle five cent milk to WPA and relief clients in the Metropolitan area. Federal and New York City authorities are cooperating on the plan at the present time trying to work out an equitable adjustment for putting government in the milk distributing business.

Sunday's Herald-Tribune states: "Officials of the Department of Agriculture said they already had been assured of the cooperation of the dairy farmers producing milk for the metropolitan area. The plan calls for indemnity payments to dealers by the Federal government up to three cents a quart and for the establishment and operation by the city of several hundred milk stations."

Milk consumption in the metropolitan area is expected to reach 100,000 quarts daily. It was pointed out that the drop in milk prices which will automatically take effect on May 1, under the Federal-State marketing order, probably will be offset for the farmer because he will be able to sell his surplus milk for relief usage instead of at the cheaper rates, at which it is generally sold for manufacturing purposes.

The funds for subsidizing the relief milk will come from the money received annually by the Department of Agriculture from customs receipts, under the plan.

Federal and State officials, at the hearing, heard and considered testimony on amendments designed to improve the administrative provisions of the Federal-State marketing order in the light of operating experience. The present producer-price structure was also reviewed. Glen J. Gifford, of the solicitor's office of the Department of Agriculture, presided at the hearings which began on Thursday.

Representatives of more than 60,000 farmers of New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Connecticut, Massachusetts and Vermont, who supply milk for 10,000,000 consumers in the metropolitan area, proposed that the present method of basing the price of fluid milk on the price of butter be changed so that the price would fluctuate according to the price range of evaporated milk.

Leap Year Baby
Mr. and Mrs. Robert Chatfield of Tuscarora street are the proud parents of a son born last Thursday. The boy has been named Edwin Howard. Edwin has the distinction of being the only leap year baby in Addison for 1940. He will face the dismal prospects of having only one birthday every four years, and if he lives to be over sixty he will suffer the misfortune of going eight years without blowing the candles out on his anniversary cake. Despite this dismal prospect the boy is said to be doing well, in fact grows along entirely oblivious of his prospective dearth of birthdays.

MILK PLAN PROMISES MUCH

Hidden away in the out-of-the-way corners of many newspapers this week there was printed an announcement of great importance to poor consumers of milk, and of tremendous importance to producers of fluid milk. The plan provides for supplying whole milk to families on relief and to the lower paid workers on WPA for five cents a quart.

Arrangements for the plan have been worked out by the Federal Department of Agriculture in conjunction with the Federal-State milk marketing order officials. Initiation of the plan, it is said, now only awaits perfection or arrangements for distributing the milk in New York in several hundred distributing stations. It is expected the plan will increase consumption of milk among the needy families of the city 200,000 to 300,000 quarts a day. Officials of the Department of Agriculture say they already have been assured the cooperation of milk producers supplying the metropolitan area.

The plan is designed to accomplish two purposes. First to supply wholesome, whole milk to metropolitan consumers at a price they can afford to pay. Second to take up a large part of the surplus of milk to relieve the pressure on prices of the fluid consumed as whole milk. The plan calls for indemnity payment of dealers by the Federal government up to three cents a quart, and for the establishment and operation of several hundred milk distributing stations by the city where eligible families can obtain milk at the five-cent price.
Funds for subsidizing the relief milk will come from the money received annually by the Department of Agriculture from customs receipts.

The adoption of this plan need little if any recommendation from the public.

It has been encouraging to farmers, especially after suffering great losses through the severe drought of last summer. However, there has been steadily developing an element of danger to the industry through the operation of the Order. Even though feed has been short, production of fluid milk has been constantly increasing this winter, and this climb in amount of milk produced has become a menace to the maintenance of the price level.

Of course the price farmers receive is a blended price based upon the price of butter. Some of the milk goes into manufactured products such as butter, condensed milk, ice cream, etc., while some of it is consumed as whole milk. Whole milk brings the largest price, by far, and the more fluid milk which can be consumed, the less which need go into manufactured channels and the higher the price the producer gets for the output. Removing 200,000 to 300,000 quarts of fluid milk a day from the surplus and making it available for food for relief clients will prove a strong bracer for the market.

The plan is a good one, not only from the viewpoint of the milk producer but from the standpoint of health, as well. Science has given conclusive proof there is no substitute for whole milk for children, or for expectant mothers. It is also needed by adults, but for children the loss in health because of deprivation of whole milk could be figured up to a staggering bill. It has been pointed out in these columns more than once that some alternate should be devised to the policy whereby canned milk has been brought into this state for distribution to the poor when we had a great surplus of whole milk. The present plan promises much for both the milk producer and his surplus, and the poor consumer who needs milk, yet cannot pay the high scale price of milk delivered to his door in the metropolis.

BILLIONS FOR NOTHING

One of the stock alibis for our enormous Federal debt is that much of the money has gone to create valuable assets—that, in other words, it has been invested in things which will pay out in the future.

That makes a good story until you go beneath the surface. There is no denying the fact that the Federal debt has increased over $24,000,000-000 in the past few years. The National Economy League now publishes a statement showing that only $3,336,000,000, or 13.4 per cent of that vast sum, was spent for purposes which increased the nation's assets. The rest of the money has simply disappeared, leaving behind it only a gigantic burden for the taxpayers of today and tomorrow to meet.

This shouldn't surprise anyone who has given even passing attention to the financial conduct of the Federal government in recent years. Billions of dollars have been appropriated for relief, to be spent as soon as received by the beneficiaries.

This money created nothing permanent. Other billions have been spent for pump priming projects which didn't work, and created little save havoc. Still more billions have gone for farm relief schemes which flopped. And so it goes, down the long and tragic list.

This country has spent all those billions and about all it has gained is the knowledge that you can't spend yourself into prosperity any more than you can drink yourself sober. And now, if the spenders have their way, more billions will be spent in an identical manner, thus throwing good money after bad. Is it any wonder that the principal factor which is holding us back today is fear and uncertainty as to what the future will bring?

THE SPIRIT OF REAL SCOUTS

Those who still believe the press has no influence for good should take note of what happened in Addison last week. Two writers penned comments on the fact the walk had not been shoveled on the grammar school frontage. Inside a few hours the sidewalk, miraculously enough, had been cleared of snow. Many persons who use this walk undoubtedly breathed a deep sigh of relief on finding it was possible to walk there without grave danger of a fall where the snow had been trampled unevenly.

Incidentally many persons voiced their displeasure because Addison boy scouts had shown no interest in taking care of the sidewalk in front of the property which they are given the free privilege of using. It has been pointedly asked in the past by Addison citizens, "What is the matter with scouting here?"

The view is well taken. The ideals of boy scouting are indeed excellent. When it is properly functioning a boy scout troop can be a fine thing for any community, with a lot of bright-eyed boys watching for opportunities to be helpful—to do their daily "good deed". And the boys who do the "good deeds" are in the long run the ones who gain the greatest benefit, through the building of their characters by the simple process of helpfulness.

By the same token a boy scout troop which exists in name only can be of little help to the boys who compose it. If they entirely forget the basic objectives of scouting and plan only for selfish good times for the members of the troop they deserve neither the name of scouts nor the support which the name always brings.

In some communities scouts recognized the big snow as an opportunity to show how helpful they could be. Here was a nature-made obstacle for men and women which provided thousands of chances for the thoughtful scout to show his wares. Those who grasped this opportunity for service are the real Boy Scouts of America—the lads who make the organization really live and be a vibrant force for helping boys help themselves and helping others.

When scouts as a rule lose this spirit of helpfulness, scouting itself will be as dead as a dodo.

READ THE NEWSPAPERS

In testifying before a House committee, J.
Edgar Hoover, justly famed head of the "G-men", said: "I have been very much surprised at the absolute lack of protective measures in many of our large industrial plants. Some of the great plants in the country have utilized no measures against sabotage or destruction of property."

Commenting on this, the Wall Street Journal observed: "It is disconcerting to find that Mr.
Hoover can be surprised. It is particularly so when by merely following the news reports he could find that industrial companies which took steps against sabotage in a good many instances have been accused of trying to suppress legiti-mate union activities. And if they dared to defend themselves by mentioning Communists or sabotage, they were smeared with that devastating appellation, 'red-baiter'."

A new and revolutionary principle seems to have come into effect in this country. Under it, the employer is always wrong and the agitator always right. A labor organizer can actually wreck an industry by the strike, sit-down, slow-up or coercive technique used today, and the law will protect him. An employer who dares to express to his employees even mild disapproval of such methods may be hauled up before the National Labor Relations Board and charged with coercing defenseless workers.

The fact that we need employers to supply labor with jobs and opportunities, is disregarded.
So is the fact that invested savings of millions of citizens have been responsible for giving the American workmen the best jobs, the highest wages, the best working conditions and the finest standard of living in the world.

The surest way to injure labor is to cripple industry.

"Our public debt—national, state and local—now averages $430 for every man, woman and child in the country. The present generation has placed a mortgage on all the people and on the property of all the people in order to prime the pump for the present generation."—Harry Flood Byrd, U. S. Senator from Virginia. This is a nice present to hand to unborn generations. What will they think of the intelligence of their forefathers?

Success has its great rewards. And it also has its headaches. Nothing was ever accomplished that didn't attract criticism from malcontents.
The failure likes nothing better than to denounce the successful man.

BOOTS, BOOTS, BOOTS!

Now that the Hillbilly Wedding is over and people are still laughing at the antics of the anties of the performers, some Main street businessmen will get back to earth after their flights into the thespian realm. They had a good time anyway, and seemed to provide entertainment for those in the audience.

Monday, April 1, will be April Fool's Day and it will be that for those who are opposed to daylight saving and do not make known their desires at the next village board meeting on that date. A public hearing is to be held on that date and objections will be heard and upon the basis of the hearing, the village trustees will act in providing for or against daylight saving here.

And speaking of the village board, I was interested in the project introduced there Monday to open the dam sluiceway at the old mill and lower the water in the river to break up the ice and let it out now. Trustee Allen introduced the idea and it showed some forethought for what might happen in the spring.

It was a beautiful sight to awaken Tuesday morning and see the trees covered with beautiful snow and the ground all fresh and clean and white. Then the electricity went off, spoiling breakfast and the puddles under the snow gave me wet feet on my way to work.
But it still was beautiful.

DEAR RAMBLER:

A splendid editorial on unrecognized heroes appeared in your paper recently. Carlyle says, "In all times and places, the hero has been worshipped." But, too often, the hero is unrecognized because we think of a hero as one who performs some spectacular deed unexpectedly.

Heroes are not made in a moment. Heroism is "the test of a sincere heart." Those whose heroism appears suddenly were heroes at heart or they would not have met the sudden emergency.

Nearby, a woman has been sitting upright in a bed for twelve years, her fingers busy with lovely needlework, or clever rag dolls.
Everyone is greeted with a cheery smile and helpful word. She represents the heroes of invalidism.

There is the hero of living, daring to stand alone for Right. Temptation, ridicule, and censure are all overcome because Right must prevail. With him stands the hero of the pen who presents Truth clearly and bravely. Their souls may write under the abuses, but since Truth must be given a voice they continue to write and to live.

Once each year America honors a hero, then—too often— forgets.
The poet describes this hero:—
"The bravest battle that ever was fought!"

Shall I tell you where and when?
On the maps of the world you will find it not.

'Twas fought by the mothers of men.

But deep in a weiled-up woman's heart—

A woman that would not yield, But bravely, silently, bore her part—Lo, there is that battlefield."

Few of these are spectacular heroes, but heroes none the less. What, then, is the quality that makes a hero? "A noble unconsciousness is in him." He is possessed of complete selflessness. Thus, there would be more heroes if there was less selfishness. To be a hero one must have lived a hero's life of sincerity, truth and selflessness.

That's All—
THE RAMBLER

COMMUNICATION

TO THE VOTERS OF ADDISON Several of the taxpayers of the Village of Addison are kicking about the purchase of a new fire truck to replace the Phoenix Hose Pumper truck, (which is in the following condition.)

(1) As a new truck the pumper had enough pressure so that four men were required to hold the nozzle and now not four but one man can hold the nozzle regardless of pressure. One thing that caused this was the pumping of flood water from cellars, which has ground the inside of the pumper all to pieces; (2) the truck itself is getting old and the action is slowly decreasing; (3) the truck motor needs overhauling and why go to the expense of all of this on the old truck turn it in towards a new one.

(4) The frame of this truck is getting very poor in spots and some day the truck will be found along the route to a fire but out of shape because of this. These are four of the many reasons why a new truck is needed. If the taxpayers do not consent to purchase said truck the Board of Fire Underwriters will compel this movement as they are doing in Painted Post, Bath and a number of such towns.

Maybe if you taxpayers would rather not add a dollar more to your taxes by not consenting to the purchase, the fire departments should liquidate their operations and equipment thus adding a few dollars to your fire insurance rate.
I think Katharine Darrin and other taxpayers who voice such thoughts as they have had publicly in this paper for the last two or three weeks should hesitate and reconsider this proposition to come to vote at the Village election.

I further think that for the amount that was put into this truck by the Village and Phoenix Hose Company the taxpayers should have no regret for the use of such money, due to the amount of loss it has saved.

If you want protection from us you will certainly have to give us decent equipment to work with.

Three-Legged Hen

Lays Flat Eggs

Fred Shrauger of the Chubb Hollow road, Hinrod, R. D. 1, has a three-legged New Hampshire Red hen which is presenting him with flat eggs, measuring 3 1/2 inches long. The hen is a freak, her stomach being where her crop should be, and a short third leg dangling near the wing. The oblong eggs are decidedly flat. They may be seen on display in the Penn Yan Chronicle-Express shop window.

Editor Addison Advertiser, Addison, N. Y.:

In the columns of your paper during the past two weeks, there seems to be quite a lot of controversy in reference to the fire truck proposition to be voted on at the coming village election. The controversy concerns itself with the need and advisability of purchasing a new truck at this time.

I would like to state a few facts in reference to this proposition and try to explain why it is advisable to vote "yes" on this proposition and make this purchase.

The present pumper truck in the department was purchased in 1925 and should be replaced. It was purchased at a cost of $5,200 of which $700 was paid by the members of the Phoenix Hose Co., themselves.

This truck is now 15 years old and is obsolete. The corporation from which it was purchased has long since gone out of the fire apparatus business, making it practically impossible to secure any parts when needed for repairs. This is the only piece of apparatus in the department which has a pump. There are places in this village where it is absolutely necessary to use a pump in case of fire. Some of the places are: upper Steuben street, Jones street, Goodhue street, South street and Farnham street.

If a fire should break out at any of these places it would be necessary, in order to fight these fires to advantage, to hook the pump to the nearest hydrant to secure pressure at the nozzle sufficient to combat the fire successfully. Only one fire loss at any of these places would practically pay for the pump, and truck that is being voted on.

At the present time the truck and pump are in such condition that it is liable to give out completely at any time. And once it does there is no way in which fire at the named places could be handled successfully by the local department and it would be necessary to call upon the Painted Post or Corning Fire Departments for help to keep the flames from spreading. And before help could be received from these departments the flames would have such a start that it would be a hard job to get control of the fire.

The condition of the truck, about which I speak, was caused by the pumping of cellars during the July flood of 1935. The pump was never intended to be used for that work and by pumping these cellars the water running through the pump contained so much gravel and cinders that it ruined the pump.

Of course the arguments about raising taxes at this time are true and we fully agree that taxes should not be raised unless absolutely necessary, but in a case of this kind that is vitally important to every property owner in the village, we feel that this proposition should be carried.

One fire loss at any of the places named would pay for the truck which also may be the means of saving one or more lives.

Hoping I have clarified some matters in reference to the need of carrying this proposition and thanking you for the use of your valuable space.

Wholesome Growth of Children

To produce a fearless child, parents must learn to overcome their own fears. A child is extremely sensitive to the emotional outbreaks of adults, especially his parents.

If his mother is afraid of dogs or bugs, the child may also become afraid of dogs or bugs, without consciously knowing that he has imitated her. Other fears may be learned by association, and when the child is frightened by loud, strange noises in the dark, and afterwards fears the dark. Hearing dramatic tales of burglaries, murders or kidnappings in the neighborhood may also terrify a small child and be responsible for a fear of being alone at night.

These are the findings of those who study ways to guide children, says the New York State College of Home Economics.

Instruction in the care and proper use of matches and knives may prevent accidents which would later be responsible for fearfulness of these things. When fear is already present, the parents may help their child to make new and pleasant associations with the object of the fear.

Along with getting rid of fear and building up caution must come wholesome outlets for love and affection and training in the control of temper. A child's dislikes, prejudices and jealousies are based on unpleasant emotional situations.
Outlets for pleasant thoughts and good deeds are an aid to wholesome, normal growth.

Baseball practice is still contin-ing in the Addison High under the direction of Coach William J. Miller. The boys have had a great deal of skull work and this will continue with some limbering up exercises for their arms and legs. It is expected that some new talent will be discovered to take the place of the fellows lost through graduation and through ineligibility.

WASHINGTON
NEWS

When July 1st, 1941 comes around Uncle Sam will have spent almost 66 billion dollars in the past eight years which represents the greatest spending period in the history of our country. From the time of George Washington, one hundred and fifty years ago, until July 1, 1917, the total Federal expenditures were only $28,207,000,000 and this includes the cost of the Civil and Spanish American Wars. Total expenses of the World War period from July 1, 1917 to July 1, 1920 set a spending record of $37-703,000,000. Roosevelt has borrowed as much money as was required to run this government for the first 128 years of its existence.
Bankruptcy, repudiation, inflation-or much higher taxes is the answer

To verify the assertion that agriculture and industry are each dependent upon the other and each mutually helpful, it is cited that the motor transportation industry provides a powerful stimulant to the output of goods and services, being responsible for one-seventh of the nation's pay envelopes. It is further claimed that agriculture products from nearly 2,500,000 acres of land went into the manufacture of motor vehicles in 1939.

Recent figures in connection with the appropriation for the support of the State Department reveal that the United States owns property in 45 different foreign countries for the use of its diplomatic and consular service and that the total value of this property is set at well over 12 million dollars.

A great deal of attention has lately been given to the Silver Purchase Program of this administration and a sub-committee of the Senate Committee on Banking and Currency has recommended discontinuance of the purchase of foreign silver. So far we have purchased nearly a billion dollars of foreign silver at an average price of 52c an ounce, with a total purchase of two billion two hundred million ounces.

The Commerce Department has recalled Frank Williams, U. S. Commercial attaché at Tokyo, for twenty-seven years. The real reason for his presence at the Capital is to advise Secretary Hull on the Japanese embargo question when Congress gets going on proposals to stop sending war supplies to Japan. The movement to curb exports of war materials to Japan is gathering strength every day for many are convinced that without this source of material Nippon could not carry on her warfare with China. Admiral Yarnell, Commander of the Asiatic fleet, has advised that such a step by the United States would not draw hostile or retaliatory measures by Japan since she is so completely dependent on our markets for her products.

Special House Committee inquiring into the National Labor Relations Board and its administration of the law is making an intermediate report and recommendations for changes in the Act. Chairman Norton, of the Labor Committee, with these recommendations would be referred for study and approval has announced that no action would be taken by her committee at the session of Congress.
This does not mean that she will be able to block all corrective labor legislation for the Special Committee has announced that it will seek to have the Norton Committee discharged from consideration of the proposals.

Unexpected vote in Ohio which gave the Republicans two new House Members is causing the opposition to have a bad case of jit-ters. Many of them feel that this is a weather vane of what is going to happen in their own districts and are expecting that they will soon join the limbo of "ex-Congressmen."

Austin — Edward Duell, 28, was found dead of monoxide poisoning by state highway workers. His car was stalled in a snow bank and it is believed that he was overcome before he could save himself.

Newark — The Rev. Harold I. Andrews, D. D., pastor of the Newark Methodist Church, died of a heart attack in the office of his physician last week. He was formerly district superintendent in Central New York.

Apple Consumption
Advances in Markets

KINDERHOOK, N. Y., March 1.—Domestic consumption of apples advanced as much as three to four hundred per cent in certain key markets during the recent national "Apples for Health" merchandising drive, the Eastern New York Apple Industry Committee reported today. Lawrence Howard, chairman of the committee, declared that the drive, sponsored by chain stores, was designed to offset loss of large foreign markets due to European hostilities.

The committee, Howard said, credits the drive early in February with a substantial part of the increase of more than 60 per cent in the January apple movement from New York State cold storages. "The concerted efforts of the chains and other cooperating retail distributors," Howard said, "helped make the movement the highest on record for any similar period."

One chain alone, the Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Company, he reported, boosted its normally heavy purchases of New York and New England apples approximately 35 per cent over a year ago. The same company answered the request of growers in the northeastern territory that McIntosh apples be given special emphasis by boosting purchases of that type 1,000 per cent.

"Despite the depressing factor of lost foreign markets because of the war, shipments to domestic consumption channels resulting from these and similar large scale purchases were heavy enough to aid in firming prices to growers," Howard said.

Now's the time to do a little rustling about for new dessert ideas. Mid-winter meals, for some reason, have a way of getting on the drab side. They need enlivening, and desserts that are different know just how to do it.

A fluffy meringue, flavored with brown sugar and cinnamon, gives a peach or pineapple one-crust pie a new interest. Broken nut meats blended with some honey, is a refreshing topper for a baked or cottage pudding. And if you pour caramel sauce over a fluffy snow pudding, you'll have something that will make the family talk.

Try this meringue fruit compote. Assemble any fruit blends you like — black cherries and pears, oranges and bananas or apricots and pineapple are good mixers. Arrange them in a shallow, buttered baking dish and spread with a sweetened meringue flavored with a little grated lemon and orange peels, and small amounts of almond and vanilla extracts. Bake 15 minutes in a slow oven. Serve it warm or chilled with a custard sauce flavored with almond and lemon extracts.

Here is a delightful sweet roll patterned after the old fashioned fruit roll. Roll rich biscuit dough 1/2 inch thick, spread it with butter, brown sugar, cinnamon and nuts. Roll, sprinkle more of the sugar mixture over it and bake in a moderate oven. This is grand when served with fresh apple sauce or a thin lemon pudding sauce.

FLORIDA COBBLER

(Serves Six)

2 cups grapefruit sections 1 pint blackberries
3/4 cup sugar
2 tablespoons flour
1 teaspoon lemon juice
1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
2 tablespoons butter
1 cup flour
1 1/2 teaspoons phosphate baking powder Few grains salt
2 tablespoons shortening
Milk

Wash and pick over blackberries. Peel and segment grapefruit. Place in oblong pan. Combine sugar and 2 tablespoons flour; pour over berries and grapefruit. Sprinkle with lemon juice and cinnamon. Dot with butter. Mix and sift 1 cup of flour, baking powder and salt. Cut in shortening. Add enough milk to make soft dough. Pat out on lightly floured board and cut into diamonds. Arrange diamonds over berries. Bake in moderately hot oven (375 degrees F.) 25-30 minutes or until brown. Serve with Hard Sauce. Serves 6.

ORANGE FRITTERS, good to the last crumb. Mix 2 cups flour, 1 teaspoon baking powder, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/2 cup granulated sugar, 1 cup milk, 3 tablespoons fat, melted, 1 teaspoon grated orange rind, 1/4 teaspoon grated lemon rind and 2 eggs. Beat well and mix in 1 1/2 cups cubed oranges. Drop portions from a spoon into deep hot fat and fry three minutes until well browned. Serve immediately with Melba Sauce. To make the sauce, mix 1 cup granulated sugar, 3 tablespoons flour, 1/4 teaspoon salt, 2 tablespoons lemon juice, 1 cup raspberries, 1/2 cup raspberry juice or water and 2 tablespoons butter. Cook slowly and stir constantly until a creamy sauce forms. Serve warm.

Fruit Ambrosia is delightfully different and refreshing. Mix together 2 cups sliced oranges, 1 cup sliced pears, 1-3 cup honey (strained) and 2 tablespoons lemon juice. Arrange in a glass dish and sprinkle with toasted coconut. Chill.

TASTY 'NIBBLES'

SUITED TO A 'TEA'

A snack for tea is often the nourishment of friendship.

Tea Fruit Squares

24 Squares

3 eggs
3/4 cup sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla extract
1-3 cup flour
1 teaspoon baking powder 1/2 teaspoon salt
1 cup chopped dates
1 cup seedless raisins
2-3 cup chopped nuts, powdered sugar

Separate eggs, beat yolks until lemon colored. Add sugar and vanilla to yolks, combining thoroughly. Sift together flour, baking powder and salt; add to the egg mixture. Add finely chopped dates, raisins, and finely chopped nuts. Mix well. Beat the egg whites until stiff and fold into mixture. Spread into a well greased 2-quart utility dish and bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) for 30 to 35 minutes. Cut while warm into squares and sprinkle with powdered sugar.

FLUFFY DUMPLINGS

To keep stew dumplings from becoming soggy, do not allow them to sink into the gravy—place each dumpling on a piece of solid vegetable or meat. Cover and cook for 12 or 13 minutes. The lid should fit tightly and the dumplings should never be disturbed while cooking.

CRUNCHY PECAN TARTS

TEAM UP TO COFFEE

Tarts spiked with coffee will chase dullness out of any menu. They crunch deliciously and taste good. Better try them.

Coffee Butter-Pecan Tarts

(6 tarts)

3/4 cup light brown sugar
1-3 cup flour
2 eggs
1 cup double-strength freshly-made coffee 1 cup milk
2 tablespoons butter

QUESTION. Does orange juice which has been placed in a covered glass jar in the refrigerator lose any of its vitamin values? Which of the following juices is richest in vitamin content: orange, prune or tomato?

ANSWER. A loss in vitamin content of approximately 25 per cent has been found in orange juice which has been stored overnight in the refrigerator in tests made by Dr. Anne Bourquin, professor of nutrition in the College of Home Economics at Syracuse University.

The percentage of loss of vitamin content was about the same whether the container in which the juice had been placed was open or closed, because when an orange is squeezed oxygen from the air gets into the juice and is responsible, in part, for the rapid loss of vitamin content over night.

Vitamin content may be expressed on an arbitrary or on a relative scale such as 1-7-10, etc. On such a scale or ratio as the latter, prunes have a value of 26, tomatoes 19, and oranges 1 for vitamin A content, indicating that oranges are very poor in this vitamin. For vitamin C content, the ratio or scale is prunes 0, tomatoes 5 and oranges 8, indicating that of the three, oranges are richest in vitamin C.

QUESTION. How does the so-called magnetic mine operate? Is it something new as a scientific phenomenon or merely a war-time application of an old scientific principle?

ANSWER. Although no description of these mines is available for study as a basis for answering this question, it seems likely that the new mine is an application of an old scientific principle. The magnetic mine probably is one in which the firing mechanism is set off by the magnetism of the ship passing over the mine. Two well-known principles of physics could be utilized for this purpose.

One of the principles was discovered by an Englishman, Michael Faraday, more than one hundred years ago. If a magnet is passed over a coil of wire a current will be produced in the coil provided it forms a closed circuit. This principle could be used by having a coil of wire in the mine, or perhaps better, a coil of wire floating above the mine and attached to it by a cable. When the boat passed over the coil it would produce an electric current which would set off the mine.

The second principle involves use of the magnetic compass. A compass normally points to the north, but if a magnet is brought next to the needle, it will be deflected. The magnetic mine, or a copper compartment projecting from it, may contain a magnetic pointer which normally points in a very definite direction. Were a ship to pass near the magnetic pointer, however, the magnetism of the ship would deflect the needle in such a way as to complete an electrical contact which would set off the mine.

Some persons believe that these new mines are called magnetic because they are magnetically pulled up into actual contact with the ship. This is impossible for no magnetic force that strong is known. — Dr. William R. Fredrickson, physicist.

QUESTION. To what extent is Germany depleting its wood supply in the present war?

ANSWER. Germany is the recognized cradle of forestry. In many ways it has developed a magnificent plan of managing its forests for very efficient domestic use, but now it is overcutting its forests about 50 per cent for urgent current war demands.

This overcutting will eventually mean complete destruction of the beautiful and efficient system of forestry which Germans have been building for several hundred years and in some cases for as long as a thousand years or more.

In spite of its excellent forestry program, Germany normally imports about one-third of its total lumber and other wood requirements. With foreign sources cut off, Germany is going to be strictly up against it. Much of its clothing, food, motor fuel and chemicals come from the forest under the German system of what is known as "ersatz" or substitutes.

Paraphrasing Ellis Parker Butler, who said "pigs is pigs" the average person is too likely to consider that "paint is paint." Frequently it is not—sometimes it is anything and everything in the world except paint. And since this is the case it is somewhat surprising that only one or two states in the Union thus far have taken the trouble to analyze paints and to publish, as a measure of protection to the consuming public, what is being sold under paint labels. Eight states have laws which require that cans containing paint have all ingredients listed on the labels.

The North Dakota Regulatory Department in its bulletin No. 53 has made and published analyses of paints and varnishes in conformity with its state paint and varnish laws. Some rather surprising results seem to have been obtained.

The report says that "practically all of the house paints and floor enamels carried the analysis on the label as required by law, but the analyses of a great number were found not in agreement with the claims made for them."

To comply with the North Dakota paint laws it is necessary that the composition be accurately shown on the label. The law does not prohibit the sale of poor quality paint, but the user can easily read the entire list of in-

Germany is seriously in need of wood and many other basic raw materials beside wood and it appears that this war literally will wreck its beautiful forests of which Germans have been so very proud. — Prof. Nelson Brown, forester.

QUESTION. Will a flashlight cease to burn if exposed to a temperature of 50 degrees below zero?

ANSWER. Flashlight batteries contain a paste made of several chemicals. When this paste solidifies or is frozen, the flashlight will no longer operate.

This is demonstrated in the laboratory by putting dry ice in a flask and putting a little ether on it to make a freezing mixture. If a lighted flashlight is dropped into this mixture the light will go out. The exact temperature at which this occurs probably cannot be stated definitely but is below zero. — Dr. Albert L. Elder, chemist.

QUESTION. Apart from the war with Japan, is there any scientific reason why the Chinese people should starve in times like this?

ANSWER. Several reasons exist for the fact that even in normal times part of the Chinese population is starving. The last available comparable figures which date back to 1919, before the Chinese revolution show 207,000,000 acres under cultivation in China and a population of some 450,000,000 persons. These figures indicate that there is available 4 1/2 of an acre to produce food for each person in China. In contrast with the condition in China, the United States in 1919 had 365,000,000 acres under cultivation and a population of some 130,000,000. In other words, the United States had 3 1/2 acres producing food for each person in its population.

The Chinese birth rate which is between 40 and 50 per thousand or nearly three times that of the United States is a contributing factor, of course, to the nation's lack of food. Working with it to cause China's continual scarcity of food are the country's poor agricultural methods, and its relatively dense population. Even in normal years when no special famine exists, it is estimated that a couple of million persons in China starve to death. — Dr. Sidman Poole, geographer.

Full Houses Greet Welles Hose Hillbilly Wedding Two Nights

Firemen stage riotous comedy in opera house—Realize over $100 — Many laughs and some good entertainment provided by large group of musicians, dancers, singers and comedians.

Laughs and many of them were provided by the comedy, rehearsed and unrehearsed, when the members of the Welles Hose Company presented the comedy, "The Hillbilly Wedding" in the city hall Thursday and Friday nights of last week. The company realized over $100 on the project. The house was filled both nights and received the play with laughter and applause.

Village, with ten full-blooded Indians, tepees, war dances, medicine dances, tribal initiations, etc. Preceding over this aboriginal village will be Chief Henry Red Eagle of the Algonquin tribe. Every afternoon and evening, several small boys will be picked.

The laughter came when the Flora Dora girls comprising the Dimple Darling Dancers came on stage in the person of Guy Ricker, John Davis, Theodore Laffkas and L. E. Handy. Also when Gus Vona as the Wronged Daughter was led to the wedding by Sheriff Pete Laffkas, when Laverne Barr and Dix Curtis danced as the horse, when Francis Hill was carrying the ever growing plant, when Coral Payne spoke the lines in Negro dialect and when several dignified business men marched down the aisle to the wedding attired in women's clothes and also when Dr. Amos Stiker took the part of Aunt Ada and whipped Little Milford, and also when Franklyn Ripley sang falsetto, while attired in an evening gown.

Entertainment was provided by the Brass Sextet of the high school composed of Peggy Knebel, Frances Colburn, Edward Rus, Matthew Whitmore, Robert Burlingame and Richard Gladstone. They gave a medley of Stephen Foster melodies, the Horton brothers of Woodhull also drew a great deal of applause as did Wyckoff Sherwood with a saxophone solo. Forrest Rouse played his electric Hawaiian guitar, Ruth Ann Smyth, the youngest on the program played two piano solos, Frances Colburn gave a trombone solo, Ivan Stoddard sang to the accompaniment of his own guitar and a tap dance number of Oneta Smith was loudly encoored as were all the above numbers.

E. Dixon Curtis gave a monologue in disguise but did not fool his daughter for she called to him the second night from the audience. The theme orchestra was the Rhythm Rangers composed of Walter Perkins, as leader, Shannon Bovee, Robert Bullock, Hubert Dinny and Stanley Ward.

Hillbilly numbers were given by Wright family with the men playing musical instruments for a medley of jigs and reels and the Wright sisters singing a duet, "The Prison Rose". A feature of the specialty program was a square dance set composed of Alberta Groce, Barbara George, Ruth Force, Glenora Townner, Stanley Ackerson, Charles Wade, Warren Perkins and Edward Force. Harold Hibbard danced a rumba number.

The Hillbilly Wedding had Walter Smith as the bride and Charles "Petey" Whitmore as the groom. Hugh Varn as the marrying justice, bridesmaids, James Barkalow, Percy Smith, George Freeman, Jay Mose, Mike Triches, Harry Chappell and Kenneth McCaig; flower girls, Ralph Vona and Junior Reynolds; ring bearer, Forrest Burrell.

Harry Mullen was master-of-ceremonies, Harold Crane the telegraph boy, Bernard Lindsley was Ura Pumpkinhead, Edward Force was Little Milford. Walter Aldrich was in charge of the ticket sales.

The members of the Welles Hose Company thank their many friends who patronized the show, the merchants who advertised on the program and the members of the east who are not members of the company for making the affair the success it was. Miss Dolly White was directress.

Seek to Amend Nurse
Practice Act in State

Mrs. Leon Hogg, president of District 3 of the New York State Nurses Association, announced that the State Nurses Association has sponsored the introduction of a bill to amend the nurse practice act to postpone for one year or until July 1, 1941 the date when all who nurse for hire, must be licensed. Assemblywoman Jane Todd introduced the bill which has already passed the lower house and is now before the Senate. This bill does not extend the date when applications must be filed. This remains July 1, 1940.

Two other amendments were added to the Todd bill, February 29. They provide that (a) persons who have been engaged in nursing from July 1, 1937 to July 1, 1938, and who have lived in New York State during this time; or persons who have reputedly practiced nursing in the State for the same period and who meet other certain requirements will be licensed as practical nurses upon passing a simple practical examination; (b) and persons who have reputedly practiced nursing in New York State for five out of ten years immediately prior to July 1, 1938 and who have been residents of this state from July 1, 1937 to July 1, 1938 may be licensed as practical nurses.

The last two amendments will clarify the intent of the law and enable the Board of Nurse Examiners to review applications of persons who have practiced in the State but lived on the border. Mrs. Hogg said that the enactment of this bill is necessary in order to give the Board of Nurse Examiners sufficient time to review the applications which will continue to pour in until July 1, 1940.

George King Announces His Candidacy for County Judge

Corning, March 5 — District Attorney George A. King, who has been mentioned frequently as a possible candidate for Steuben County Judge to succeed Judge Edwin S. Brown, who retires the last day of this year, today issued the following statement:

"Responding to the urgent requests of friends throughout Steuben County I have decided, after mature and serious consideration, to announce myself a Republican candidate for county judge to succeed Judge E. S. Brown on his retirement this year. Before making this decision I consulted with members of the Bar Association, in particular, and from many of them received assurance of active support.

"Steuben County has many lawyers well qualified to seek this honor at the hands of voters but their apparent desire to retain the positions and offices they now hold has encouraged me in the belief that they, as well as the voters, will look with favor upon my candidacy and women at the same place and forcing 350 hostages from Gdynia to dig their own graves before execution.

"The office that will be vacated by Judge Brown, after so many years of faithful service, is one of great trust as well as high honor and I offer my candidacy with a deep sense of the responsibility that is involved.

"As district attorney I have spared neither time nor physical resources in my endeavor to fulfill to the utmost detail the oath of office I took more than three years ago. That the voters understood and endorsed my efforts I believe was indicated in my re-election last year. The increased vote that has been given me each time my name has appeared upon a ballot has also encouraged me to hope that the majority of voters will receive my present candidacy with favor.

"In my first campaign for the nomination for the office I now hold I received a majority in the primary of 5,088 and in the general election of 1936 a majority of 9,993. In the 1939 primary campaign I was unopposed but the voters favored me with a total of 13,411 votes and in the general election of that year I received a majority of 15,525 or more than three times the first primary majority given me. I treasure these figures because I believe them to be an expression of increasing interest in the work I have endeavored to accomplish as the county's chief prosecuting officer.

"If my candidacy is received favorably by my associates in the legal profession and by the final judges, the voters of Steuben, I can but renew the pledge I made when I first assumed office, that I would serve with fidelity, to the limit of my ability and strength, to preserve the dignity and justice of an office that has been filled by such a long list of distinguished jurists.

"I am content to leave my candidacy in the hands of the men and women of this county who have studied my work closely since I became their district attorney and many of whom I have come to know personally. I will accept without question whatever decision they may make at the ballot box."

How, What and Why

This paper has arranged with the Office of Information of the New York State Colleges of Agriculture and Home Economics to answer questions about problems of farm and home. If you enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope, and mention the name of this paper, you will receive a direct reply to your query from the colleges. Do not ask more than one question in one letter or on one post card. Ask as many questions as you like, but make each one a separate communication.

Old-Fashioned Yeast

R. C. W. asks: "Where may I get a recipe for making the old-fashioned home-made yeast which can be kept in a jar and to which water is added, as the yeast is to replenish the supply?"

Professor Catherine J. Personius of the College of Home Economics replies: "Your reference is probably to what is known as liquid or potato yeast and can be prepared as follows."

Potato or Liquid Yeast

4 to 6 medium-sized potatoes 2 quarts of boiling water 1-3 cup of sugar
1 cup of flour
2 to 3 tablespoons of salt 1-2 teaspoon of ginger
1 dry yeast cake soaked in 1 cup of lukewarm water

"Pare potatoes and cut them into small pieces. Cook them in the boiling water until they are soft and save the cooking water. Mash the potatoes or put them through a colander or sieve. Mix the sugar, flour, ginger and salt in a crock or bowl, and pour over them the hot mashed potatoes and enough of the cooking water to make a stiff batter."

"Beat the mixture thoroughly. When it is lukewarm, add the soaked yeast and mix it well. Keep this at room temperature for 24 hours, then cover it and store it in a cool, dark place."

"One cup of the liquid yeast can be used in place of one cake of compressed yeast. Because of the moisture in the liquid yeast, a little more flour will have to be used."

"It is not advisable to keep liquid longer than two weeks as off-odors and flavors will tend to develop. In making new yeast, you may use one cup of the old liquid yeast in place of the one yeast cake in the original recipe."

Horseheads—The budget for this village is $17,000 with $10,500 to be raised by taxes.

Stuart Bills Reach Assembly Final Vote

Two measures sponsored by Assemblyman William M. Stuart, Steuben County's representative from the second assembly district, passed in the Assembly this week without a dissenting vote. This is the first legislation introduced by the local assemblyman to come up for final vote this session.

When asked today if he would have much legislation proposed this session, Mr. Stuart replied, "No I can see no reason to clutter up the legislature with measures unless they are of sufficient importance and needed for the betterment of conditions throughout the state. Our first concern here now should be to place the management of governmental departments, in the state in a businesslike position without forcing on the people a multitude of new and unnecessary regulations."

One of Mr. Stuart's bills which passed the assembly will authorize refund by the health department of fees received from applicants for embalming and undertaking license in cases where excess amounts were received, applications denied or because applicant has ceased doing business through death or otherwise. Under the present law the comptroller has no power to return

Mr. Ginnane is well known here and pays frequent visits to his home and friends.

The battle of the state budget seemed beyond compromise this week as Republican legislative leaders continued determined to pass their proposal for cuts of 5 million dollars and the Governor threatened veto of the measure. Lehman called the GOP plan "hocus pocus" and suggested cutting 10 millions off highway funds, a proposal that Republicans regarded coldly as they pressed for passage of the revised budget Thursday.

Shenandoah, Pa., was a panic stricken city for several hours this week as an acre of 16 blocks settled. Settling of layers of an anthracite mine below the city opened huge cracks in the pavement, broke gas and water mains, twisted buildings and sank them in the earth. The two thousand persons who evacuated their homes went back 24 hours later regardless of rumblings as the mine continued to settle.

Dairymen Celebrate Spring's Coming With Banquet

As has been the custom for many years, Steuben County dairymen celebrate the coming of spring with a banquet on March 21.

Still another custom is that the Secretary of a National Breed Association be the guest speaker. The current meeting is to be addressed by H. W. Norton, Jr., secretary of the Holstein-Friesian Association of America. Still another custom is that the meeting be held in the Canisteo Community Hall, that the dinner will be served by the ladies of the Presbyterian Church.

Notable Meetings

These meetings were inaugurated several years ago with the Secretary of the National Dairy Association, Mr. C. L. Burlingame of Chicago, as the speaker. More recent meetings have been addressed by C. T. Conklin, Secretary of the Ayrshire Breeder's Association and Lewis W. Morley, the able executive of the American Jersey Cattle Club.

The appearance of Mr. Norton is a matter of special importance because of the large number of Holstein breeders in Steuben County. The meeting is sponsored by the dairy committee of the Steuben County Farm Bureau.
